RX-Wild 10W-50

Application

Quantum Petroleum RX-WILD 10W-50 Racing Oil provides superior performance and maximum protection in high-performance and racing applications. RX-WILD is engineered from advanced synthetic base oil technology and exclusive high-technology additives to better withstand the elevated rpm, high temperatures and shock-loading common to racing applications. Our robust formulation, tested along with Australian Petroleum Institute P/L and tested by one of the largest first class laboratory in the world.

RX-WILD 10W-50 Synthetic Racing Oil is recommended for on road late model, off road late model, modified big block, endurance, rally, sprint, aluminum block, marine and other high-performance racing and street applications that require a 50-viscosity oil.

Customer Benefits

- This RX-WILD 10W-50 Synthetic have high viscosity index improver.
- Proprietary friction modifier maximizes horsepower & torque
- Minimizes deposits on the valves and the piston crown, thus reducing oil consumption.
- Excellent dispersion properties to control soot and the formation of deposits to avoid clogging the filter, sludge, abrasive wear allowing your engine to work longer in optimal conditions.
- Protection From Startup to the Checkered Flag

Recommended Oil Intervals Changes
